Optimistic Note Marks Peace Talks

U.N. Negotiators Say Red
Delegates Change Attitude

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—Cease-fire talks are progressing in "cold military formality" with every reason to be optimistic, a United Nations briefing officer said tonight.

"The talks now are on the tracks," said the spokesman, Col. George Ruhlen. "An armistice is much nearer tonight than it was 24 hours ago."

An official communiqué was less enthusiastic but hopeful.

It said "A better understanding between negotiating parties" developed yesterday. It credited a change of attitude by the five Communist generals.

(In London a Foreign Office spokesman said the Communist conditions for ending hostilities in Korea, broadcast by Peking and Moscow radios, appear un-

Red Demands Not Mentioned

Neither the communiqué nor the briefing officer mentioned three Communist demands reported by Red radios.

But Allied delegates, returning Wednesday afternoon from the second day of talks in Kaesong, made it clear they wouldn't talk about one of the three points—a demand that foreign troops get out of Korea immediately.

Read-Admiral Arleigh A. Burke, a member of the five-man U.N. team, said it was a political question. Allied negotiators won't discuss political issues.

The briefing officer said negotiations "may not get down to brass tacks" in Thursday sessions. They still are discussing what items are to go on the agenda and in what order they will be taken up.

Lift Ban On Correspondents

Improvement in the atmosphere of negotiations was reflected in a communiqué announcement that 20 Allied news representatives would be authorized to go to Kaesong for Thursday's negotiations.

Previously they had been banned on Communist insistence. Five Allied photographers went back to the Red-guarded city Wednesday after the U.N. delegation had left.

They travelled along roads guarded by a motley assortment of Chinese, armed with U.S. British and Russian-type weapons. The Reds stood with their backs to the road. They said they were protecting the peace delegates against "guerrillas."

The U.N. communiqué reported "there is a general feeling among U.N. delegates to the armistice negotiations that progress is being made."

Opposing delegations have not yet agreed on "priority of items for the agenda," it said. But "a better understanding of the intended scope" of cease-fire talks has been reached "by all concerned."

The language barrier has slowed negotiations considerably. In the more informal words of Admiral Burke, progress has been "fair—but you never can tell about these things."

Korea Casualties For U.S. 78,726

WASHINGTON (AP)—Announced U.S. battle casualties in Korea reached 78,726 today, an increase of 616 since last week.

The Defense Department's weekly summary based on notifications to families through last Friday reported that the new totals are as follows: Killed in action 11,728, wounded 54,750, missing 12,248.

Total Communist casualties last Friday were reported at 1,191,422 up to June 25.

IRAN TAKES OFFER OF AID FROM U.S.

President Truman's Adviser To Try
Settlement Of Bitter Oil Dispute

TEHRAN, Iran (CP)—Iran tonight accepted President Truman's offer to send his adviser Averell Harriman to Tehran to "talk over" the oil dispute.

U.S. Ambassador Henry F. Grady was called to Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's residence to receive the Iranian reply to Truman's offer to send Harriman to Iran in the hope he could help solve the current bitter dispute between Britain and Iran.

Grady told newspapermen he was "very pleased" with Mossadegh's reply.

Earlier it was reported Iran's Oil Nationalization Commission had advised Mossadegh to accept the Truman offer.

The premier appeared to have been stalling on an answer to President Truman's offer to send his personal representative. The commission, however, said it approved the idea "on the ground that Harriman's visit could not conflict with the oil mobilization law," the spokesman said.

Informed circles here say, however, that Harriman's mission will have little effect unless the Iranians show a disposition to modify—at least slightly—their determination to seize full control of the British-operated oil industry.

There was not the slightest indication that Mossadegh was ready to make any compromise.

Three Red Jets Downed In Spectacular Battle

HEADQUARTERS, FIFTH AIR FORCE, Korea (AP)—U.S. Sabre jets today shot down three Communist MIG-15 jets and damaged another in a spectacular 20-minute air battle over northwestern Korea.

Thirty-four Allied planes tangled with an estimated 30 MIGs in dramatic dogfights south of Sinuiju.

The aerial battle ranged from 33,000 feet down to 3,000.

It started when the Sabre jets went to the Yalu River border area to fly top cover for 21 F-80 Shooting Star jets which attacked an ammunition factory south of the river.

Capt. Milton Nelson of Tarrant, Ala., sent a MIG spinning down in flames and brought his score of the Russian-made planes down to four.

The ground war in Korea has quieted considerably with the beginning of armistice talks, but there has been no let-up in the bitter war in the air.

The U.S. Eighth Army reported patrol contact and artillery fire from the Munsan area near the United Nations "peace camp," base for Allied cease-fire negotiators.

The Eighth Army communiqué said "light to moderate contact continued along the Korean front as Eighth Army forces continued their aggressive patrolling."

Thirteen B-29 Superfortresses attacked railway yards at Kwangju and Hungnam.

There was no let-up in the Allied naval attack on the east coast.

15-Car Train Late
But Show Goes On
By DON INGHAM

"Every kid in Victoria must be here," a rangy roustabout of the Clyde Beatty Circus drawled today as a train of 15 cars of glamor settled to a stop at Catherine Street opposite Victoria West Park, "home" for the famous circus for the next three days.

At 10 o'clock the park was quiet and peaceful. At 2 the big show was on, and the hundreds of youngsters who waited from 6 a.m. to see the feature event of the summer attended the colorful spectacle on well-earned passes.

Highly skilled crews had quickly transformed the park into a miniature city, complete with electric lights, food centres, and thousands of spectators, young and old.

As usual, the elephants drew the largest crowds. From the minute they lumbered from their railroad car to the time they prepared for the circus grand march their every move was noted by children and amateur photographers.

Especially interesting was the way the quiet, intelligent pachyderms helped rig the "big top," working in harness and moving huge wagons.

Horses are always popular, and the smaller the better. An eye-catcher was a Shetland pony born in Vancouver a week ago. It is the size of a terrier.

TRAIN IS LATE

The circus train arrived four hours late, but crews pride themselves on being able to set up in whatever time they have.

One crewman said:

"We'd have been lost without the youngsters, though. They take an awful lot of work off our shoulders."

On the go since March 17, laborers had no trouble setting up big tent and midway. Every piece of equipment had its place, and was put to use in proper order.

Clyde Beatty, owner, started in his own wild animal act this afternoon, will appear tonight, and in afternoon and evening performances Thursday and Friday.

Other attractions include daring aerial performances, acrobatic performances by a huge herd of trained horses, and the antics of 30 clowns.

Government In N.Z. Will Seek Voters' Support

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (CP)—Prime Minister Sidney Holland announced tonight that his Nationalist government will go to the country soon to seek vindication of its handling of New Zealand's labor crisis.

The National government, elected in December, 1949, in a strong swing to the right, would not ordinarily need to appeal to the voters again until late next year.

In the last election the National Party won 46 seats in the 80-seat House of Representatives against 34 for Labor.

Waterfront Endangered As Barge Tilts At Pier

VANCOUVER (CP)—Forty thousand gallons of gasoline spread across Vancouver harbor today when a barge tilted over at her pier. No one was aboard the barge at the time.

The harbor master immediately broadcast a warning to the waterfront against throwing matches or cigarette butts in the water.

Police patrols were immediately set up around the harbor. All ships were warned of the hazard.

Home Oil Company, owners of the barge, said $25,000 worth of gasoline had poured out of the vessel.

Managers of all industrial plants along the harbor front were also warned of the danger.

MILL SHUTS DOWN

One lumber mill on the north shore of the harbor shut down because a spark might ignite the gasoline.

Fire Chief William Thompson of North Vancouver said that if the gas caught fire a sheet of flame would float along the water and engulf the waterfront.

The gas continued to spill out of the barge as tugs worked frantically to right it.

"If we get the barge righted, things won't be so bad," Chief Thompson said.

"The gas on top of the water will evaporate quickly. Fortunately there is little wind to carry sparks from the mills."

Lack Of Huge Bombers
Scored By U.S. Leaders

WASHINGTON (UP)—The air force was reported today to have told House members it has only 87 B-36 bombers ready to go into action—a fact some members termed "shocking."

Another 60 or so of the huge long-range atomic-bomb-carrying bombers, on which the air force has placed its main reliance for strategic bombing, are in progress of modernization, members of the armed services committee said they were told.

Committee members who did not want to be quoted by name said Brig. Gen. W. C. Sweeney, and air force plans officer, disclosed the number of ready-to-go B-36's under prodding from Rep. Dewey Short (R-Mo.), ranking minority member of the committee.

The committee, in closed session, is considering multi-billion dollar air force construction plans so secret an armed guard has been thrown around the committee room 24 hours a day.

Among the plans are reported to be new bases in Europe, England and North Africa that would bring U.S. bombers within easier range of Russia.

Some members were reported to have asked Sweeney why the U.S. needed these bases, since the B-36 has been touted by the air force as an intercontinental bomber, capable of flying anywhere in the world from bases in this country.

Firm Named To Make Complete Study Of H.I.S.

VANCOUVER (CP)—B.C.'s Hospital Insurance inquiry board today named Stevenson and Kellogg, a business management firm, to study the insurance system, and appointed Sam Eckler, Toronto, as actuarial consultant.

The appointments were announced by Syd Smith, M.L.A., for Kamloops, chairman of the Legislative-member board which is studying hospital insurance.

Though Mr. Smith didn't say so, the board apparently won a battle with the administrative end of the service by getting a Government order to the department that there won't be any major changes in administrative routine until the board completes its report for the legislature.

A resolution passed by the board made the appointments and requested that Health Minister A. D. Turnbull see that "the fullest co-operation is given by all connected with B.C.H.I.S. . . ."

In other words, the department was told that it had to open the door to Steven & Kellogg and tell all.

"We have received the assurances of co-operation," Mr. Smith said.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

RUMPUS OVER RUNNYMEDE

LONDON—In the course of several visits to my sister, who lives in the little town of Egham, Surrey, rumblings of a rumpus over Runnymede have been brought to my attention. It has long been the proud boast of that pretty community on the banks of the Thames that within its domain, in the meadows of Runnymede, Magna Carta was sealed. Furthermore, that was what I was taught at school.

As the most casual student of British history knows, that great document was, theoretically, the first Bill of Human Rights, though it was enacted by the barons of King John's day to confirm their privileges over the king's assumptions.

RIVAL CLAIM
BUT, just on the other side of the river, in Buckinghamshire, the village of Wraysbury has put in a rival claim to the effect that it was within its confines and not at Runnymede, that the historic document received royal assent.

Now to people thousands of miles away in Canada, it may not seem to be of very great moment whether Magna Carta was signed in Egham or in Wraysbury—as long as it was signed. But you must remember that this is Festival of Britain year, when ancient traditions and ancient rivalries are very much to the fore in this history-conscious country—so the battle of the Eghamites and the Wraysburyites is in full swing.

VILLAGE SIGN

IT all started when Wraysbury, (population 3,500), disregarding the arguments of its 25,000-strong rival, metaphorically "cocked a snook" at Egham by putting up a notice on its village green stating boldly: "Within the boundaries of this parish were laid the foundations of English liberty by the signing of the Magna Carta in the year 1215."

Incidentally, the purists of Egham are pointing out that King John shared the contemporary inability of the nobility to write, and Magna Carta is not usually perfixed with "the". But, after all, what is the use of claiming to be the spot on which liberty was established if you can't take a few liberties with history?

OWNER'S CLAIM

AMONG Wraysbury authorities supporting its claim was the schoolmaster-cum-parish clerk, who quoted Gill's History of Wraysbury as evidence. And Sir Patrick Hannon, owner of Magna Charta Island, also declared that the actual ceremony took place on the spot where the Charter Room of his house stands. He further cited the chronicles of a monk who wrote in the 13th century: "The barons gathered at Runnymede, but the King went to the Island to execute the document on neutral ground."

Egham, however, scorned such evidence and, in conjunction with British Museum experts, prepared a booklet which asserts categorically, that Runnymede meadows, on its side of the river, were indeed the historic site where King John did as he was told.

VITAL PARAGRAPH

AS ITS STRONGEST argument, Egham pointed to the ultimate paragraph of Magna Carta itself, which reads: "Given by our hand in the meadow which is called RONIMED between Windsor and Staines." This, said the clerk to Egham Council, was in itself sufficient to dispose of Wraysbury and showed that the meadows south of the river were the scene of the sealing, though no one knew the precise spot.

The question of an island arose, he maintained, from confusion with a later, less important charter, sealed there by King John.

DRAWN CONTEST

NEEDLESS to say, Wraysbury wasn't to be disposed of as easily as all that, no matter what the clerk of Egham Council might say. So, as neither side shows any sign of withdrawing its claim, the battle over King John and Magna Carta looks like resulting in a draw.

In the meantime, I shall still adhere to my right to believe that the street on which I live in Victoria commemorates the spot on which Magna Carta was signed—in which my Egham relatives fully concur—Wraysbury notwithstanding.

Engineer Hits Rebuilding Of Ellice Span

Rebuilding of Point Ellice Bridge, a matter which Mayor Percy George has urged be studied thoroughly, is "not impracticable," in the view of Maj. J. R. Grant, consulting engineer.

City Engineer Cyril Jones, told City Council's public works meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Capt. Ronald Newell, harbor master, and Thomas E. Morrison, transport department agent, expressing personal opinions, urged a 30-foot clearance for the proposed new Point Ellice Bridge. Public works committee have already agreed on the 30-foot clearance.

Ald. J. D. Hunter, chairman, reported after the meeting that H. A. Hamilton, an official of Mi-Co Meter Company, told aldermen that deterioration of most of Victoria's 970 parking meters resulted from lack of maintenance.

Mr. Jones was asked to prepare estimated cost of fencing city property along Bowker Creek.

Spiritualism Value Told To Kiwanians

Stressing the spiritual side of human affairs, through adherence to fundamentals of Christian belief, is every citizen's best defense against Communism and Socialism, Lieutenant-governor Graham Ralston, of Division No. 1, Kiwanis Pacific Northwest District, told the Victoria Kiwanis Club at a luncheon meeting at the Empress Hotel, Tuesday.

Mr. Ralston, of Port Angeles, pointed out that Kiwanis international principles and aims are in full accord with measures being taken by the western democracies to combat Communism, citing continued support of the United Nations as one example.

On behalf of his home club, Mr. Ralston invited Victoria Kiwanians to attend the 30th anniversary meeting of the Port Angeles Kiwanis, Friday, July 20. This club was originally sponsored by the Victoria Kiwanis.

Cardinal Spellman Leads Pilgrimage

STE. ANNE DE BEAUPRE, Que. (CP)—Some 300 pilgrims from New York Diocese returned home today after a three-day visit to this St. Lawrence River shrine near Quebec City.

Special ceremonies came to a close with a Pontifical High Mass celebrated by Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York who led the U.S. group.

The high mass took place in the high-domed Basilica of Ste. Anne built on the spot where 300 years ago shipwrecked Breton mariners erected a log chapel in fulfillment of a vow to Ste. Anne, and started a popular devotion among French settlers.

The church was filled with hundreds of visitors and local residents who attended the high mass sung here for the first time by a U.S. cardinal.

Tuesday night Cardinal Spellman led the pilgrims in a torchlight procession through the hills of the famous shrine.

A relic of the mother of the Virgin Mary—a chip from an arm bone—enclosed in a massive gold reliquary decorated with precious stones, was carried during the procession. The relic was brought here in 1892. It was presented to the Redemptorist Fathers, keepers of the shrine, by Pope Leo XIII.

Committee Holds Fate Of Seaway

U.S. House Group Expects Vote Thursday On St. Lawrence Project

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives public works committee today failed to reach a vote on legislation to authorize the St. Lawrence seaway and power project. The group scheduled another closed session tomorrow.

Canada's New Prices Formula Ready In 1952

OTTAWA (CP)—The bureau of statistics hopes to have a new formula for estimating monthly changes in the cost of living early next month.

It reported today that "considerable progress" has been made toward revision of its cost-of-living index. The name of the index will be changed to "Consumer Price Index" and the base on which it is calculated brought up to date.

The name is being changed, said the bureau, to clarify the purpose of the index.

"The term 'Cost-of-Living Index' has proved to be misleading to some people, although it has been generally understood to mean an index of retail price change," it said.

The revision will be the fourth major change in indexes of consumer prices since they first were published about 40 years ago. At various times they have been relating to the base periods of 1900, 1913, 1926 and the present base of 1935-39.

Detailed expenditure records, obtained in 1948 and 1949 from approximately 3,100 representative families throughout urban Canada, constitute the basis of the current revision. Tabulations of what these families told the bureau about the kinds and quantities of goods and services they purchased are nearly complete and a list of items will be included in the new index.

"The expenditure data being used relates to a 12-month period when transition to a peace-time economy was reasonably complete," said the bureau. "A survey taken earlier than 1948-49 would have resulted in expenditures abnormally high for items formerly in short supply and low for others not moving in normal volume."

Chairman Charles Buckley (Dem. N.Y.) said the committee, in a two-hour session, discussed only two of eight seaway bills before it.

The group decided by unanimous voice vote, Buckley said, to table the six other bills. The measures discussed, he said, differ only in the amount of tolls that might be charged shippers.

Buckley declined to predict whether the committee would reach a vote tomorrow. "Who can say?" was his reply to reporters.

Every member of the 27-man committee was present for today's session.

HELD HEARINGS

The committee, in addition to holding extensive hearings early this spring, inspected the seaway site last month. The tour, in which a majority of the members participated, extended from Duluth, Minn., to Montreal.

Under several virtually identical bills before the committee the legislation, in the main, calls for: Deepening the St. Lawrence River to an average depth of 27 feet to permit navigation by ocean-going ships; and:

Construction of a 2,200,000-h.p. hydro-electric generating plant in the International Rapids section of the river—near Massena, N.Y., for the annual production of about 13,000,000,000 kilowatt hours of energy.

The power yield would be shared equally between the U.S. and Canada. Each would contribute towards the construction costs.

Engineers estimate the combined project would require an expenditure of $818,000,000. The bulk—about $560,000,000—would be used for building the waterway.

Supporters of the project, which President Truman has frequently urged Congress to authorize, include Defense Secretary George Marshall, State Secretary Dean Acheson, Defense Mobilizer Charles Wilson, Army Secretary Frank Pace, Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman and army engineers.

The project is mainly opposed by Atlantic and gulf coast port cities, eastern railroads and some private utility interests.

NO BAN IN VICTORIA

Aldermen Ready To Try Horsemeat For Dinner

If Mr. and Mrs. Smith want to get themselves a filet mignon from the side of a horse, that is their business, according to Mayor Percy George and several Victoria aldermen today.

Local "saddle and sirloin" enthusiasts need fear no civic ban on sale of horsemeat, similar to the one imposed at New Westminster, so long as health and sanitation regulations are covered.

The consensus here is: "If horsemeat's your dish, dig in."

"I ate lots of it during the First World War in France," said Ald. Aubrey Kent. "It's not as fat and a little sweeter than beef. If you weren't told you probably wouldn't know."

"Certainly not," was his reply to a suggestion that a ban might be imposed. "It's entirely up to the individual. Might even buy it myself."

Ald. Percy Scourah could see nothing wrong with sale of horsemeat except for maybe "sentimental reasons." He likes horses.

Said Ald. Millard Mooney: "If a person wants to buy it, why shouldn't he be allowed to? I'd like to try it and see what it's like."

If it helps people stretch their budgets and they want to purchase horsemeat, it's "all right" with Ald. Frank Mulliner.

Mayor George said he could see no reason for banning sale of horsemeat, providing it was passed by the health authorities and markets adhered to federal and provincial health regulations.

Priest Drops Protest; May Accept U.S. Post

TORONTO (CP)—Rev. Henry W. Garbutt, Anglican minister ousted during a stormy parish dispute, may be seeking a post with a U.S. Episcopal church.

Possibility that the 49-year-old clergyman would leave Canada was disclosed Tuesday night by R. H. Soward, chancellor of the Toronto Diocese, during a meeting at which Mr. Garbutt was to have met with Bishop A. R. Beverley of Toronto—the man who dismissed him. The purpose was to discuss Mr. Garbutt's objection to the manner of his removal.

Mr. Garbutt did not attend the meeting. He was reported to have been in Niagara Falls, Ont., meeting with a bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

The Episcopal Church in the U.S. is similar to the Church of England in form and practice.

Mr. Garbutt's counsel, R. J. Wilson of Toronto, represented him at the hearing. He told the bishop and diocese officials that Mr. Garbutt had decided to drop his fight against dismissal.

Earlier, Mr. Garbutt said he was going to protest, contending his removal was not in accordance with Church canon law. Mr. Wilson told the meeting Mr. Garbutt had later found his objection was based on the wrong canons.

The rector's dismissal climaxed a six-month inquiry into complaints from the strife-ridden parish.

Directors of Victoria and Vancouver Building Industries Exchange will hold a semi-annual meeting in Vancouver July 23. T. Loughheed, secretary, announced.

FIRST OFFICER OF THE C.W.A.C. to be appointed in the Western Command, Capt. Kathleen Trudale, will be stationed at Edmonton. Capt. Trudale's mother, Mrs. C. Y. Weaver, lives at 6 Waldron Apartments, Victoria.

Protestant Petter Rome's 'Political

An aged Anglican layman, recognized as a leader in the cause of Protestantism, told a large Victoria audience Tuesday night he believed the Roman Catholic Church was seeking to rule all men and control the destiny of the world.

In an address to an overflow audience at Central Baptist Church, 78-year-old Percy W. Petter, J.P., president of the National Union of Protestants in London, Eng., said he believed that the world-wide church with headquarters at the Vatican constituted a threat to personal freedom.

Mr. Petter charged the Roman Church was political in scope as well as religious.

"It is," the speaker declared "the oldest political organization in the world. And the political power of Rome is being exercised in every country in the world."

Mr. Petter maintained that Papal representatives throughout the world had too great a say in matters of importance.

"It seems to me extraordinary," the speaker went on, "that we in England and you in Canada allow the Pope's representatives to interfere in our political affairs."

In a sweeping accusation, Mr. Petter declared: "Communism in Russia has very much in common with the Papacy."

Dealing with religious aspects, the speaker asserted that the Roman Catholic religious teaching were not based on the revelations contained in the Bible.

"It is a religion which has no authority from God," he said.

At another point, he declared: "It is a religion which is keeping millions of human souls in darkness."

Saskatchewan Liberals Lose Seat To C.C.F.

GRAVELBOURG, Sask. (CP)—Saskatchewan's C.C.F. government Tuesday added to its majority in the Legislature when its candidate won a by-election in Gravelbourg. The defeated Liberal candidate immediately announced he will ask for a recount.

Edward Walker, 28-year-old university-trained farmer, received 2,591 votes compared to 2,510 for Ron MacLean his Liberal opponent. Mr. MacLean is a former law partner of E. M. Culliton, who won the seat for the Liberals in the 1948 general election and now is on the Saskatchewan Appeals Court Bench.

If the election of Mr. Walker is confirmed, it will give the C.C.F. 31 seats in the 52-seat Legislature. The Liberals have 19 and there is one Independent member and one Liberal-Progressive Conservative M.L.A.

About 6,000 of the approximately 7,000 voters in the farming constituency of southwestern Saskatchewan, cast ballots in the by-election which saw vigorous campaigning on both sides.

The C.C.F. criticized the federal government's handling of the Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement. Liberal speakers contended the record of the province's C.C.F. government was the real issue.

Mr. MacLean, a native of Antigonish, N.S., took an early lead and held it until well past the half-way mark in the counting when Mr. Walker edged ahead.

Kansas Cities In New Flood Battles

Rivers Rise As Rain Continues; Stricken Illinois Areas Eased

MANHATTAN, Kan. (UP) — Manhattan's fire and police departments were flooded out today by waters that covered 20 city blocks.

More rain fell over the flood-stricken area, hastening the rise of the bloated Kansas and Blue Rivers which join here.

At least 65 persons sought shelter in Red Cross refuges. Six farm families were evacuated by boat. No casualties were reported.

The water began to seep into the city's municipal building Tuesday night. The fire department was the first to pull out, but the policemen hung on until today, when they set up headquarters "on the streets" in a canvas radio shack.

The rivers were rising eight inches every hour and water stood five inches deep over much of Manhattan.

Red Cross disaster chairman Roy Carlee said "There is every indication that this flood will be worse than the one we had a week ago."

NO DRINKING WATER — In Illinois, the flooded Vermilion River was receding, but the 20,000 residents of Streator were still out of drinking water.

The city's water supply stopped when flood waters spilled into the reservoir and pumping station and officials estimated it would take more than a week before service is restored.

Neighboring cities sent emergency water supplies in railroad cars, fire engines and a 2,000-gallon milk truck. Fluoridizing kits were distributed to residents so they could purify their water.

The situation eased more rapidly at Pontiac, Ill., despite heavy rains Tuesday night. Floods rolled into Marion, Kan., for the third time in a month, covering the business section. Water ranged up to 10 inches deep in stores.

At Ottawa, Kan., the Marais des Cygnes dumped water into the city park and edged it toward the business district. Flood-weary businessmen began to evacuate merchandise.

Manhattan appeared to be the critical point on the Kansas, but river men said the stream was in flood stage again all the way down to the Missouri.

HOME GARDEN

by Hilda Beasall

Recently, Victoria was treated to a showing of hardy lilies suitable for growing in this region.

Hardy lilies are much neglected in the home garden, and it is gratifying that so much interest was taken in the display.

There are types suited to every garden, large or small, and while the bulbs may be a little more expensive than crocus and tulips, their life span is considerably longer and their display beyond comparison.

Outstanding among the blooms on show was the magnificent Lilium Crow's Hybrid, named after Dr. Crow who originated it in the East some 20 years ago, using the well-known Regal Lily (L. Regale) as a parent. Reaching a height of six feet and over, the sturdy stem will carry from 20 to 40 blooms of fine substance which will last through the month of July.

While varieties with large blooms will always catch the eye, I was intrigued with dainty smaller lilies whose maximum height is around three feet.

There are many lilies which are of easy culture. Mr. J. G. Trelawny, who brought the display from Cobble Hill, gives this advice to the home gardener:

"Make your selection this month while the lilies are in bloom, and you will be sure of your choice when planting time comes in early October. While soil should be friable and on the sandy side, the home gardener can easily make a suitable spot for growing a few bulbs. Good drainage is the most important factor, and may be secured by digging to twice the depth required for the planting of the bulb, and putting some broken brick and straw compost in the lower half."

Farm Woman Killed — A farm woman was killed eight miles south of Ituna, Sask., Monday when a truck driven by her husband collided with an oil tanker.

The victim, Mrs. John Lozinski, of the Ituna area, is reported to have been thrown from the vehicle by the impact.

Denies Charge In Air Strike — PRINCE ALBERT (UP) — The Saskatchewan Government Airways board of directors has denied a charge that its crews are overworked and its planes overloaded.

The charges were made by C. G. Palmer, regional director of the C.C.L. in Saskatchewan. He is in Prince Albert leading the strike of 71 airways employees which started six days ago.

The board of directors says airways pilots themselves are responsible for seeing that planes are not overloaded. It said the board never dictated to pilots about the loads.

The board's statement described Palmer's charge that crews worked 90 to 100 days without a day off, as a "misstatement of fact."

"This recipe made my husband a salad lover!"

Says Mrs. C. McDonald, Toronto, Ont.

"Whether or not a salad goes over big with the family," says Mrs. McDonald, "depends greatly on the quality of the mayonnaise. That's why I use Best Foods Real Mayonnaise!"

Best Foods Real Mayonnaise is the very finest quality you can buy. Most folks use Best Foods Real Mayonnaise as it comes from the jar ... its subtle flavor blends deliciously with any type of salad. Others vary Real Mayonnaise, make it spicy, tart or sweet to suit the salad. Here is how Mrs. McDonald adds her personal touch to Real Mayonnaise!

ZESTY SALAD GARNISH

Blend ¼ c. Best Foods Real Mayonnaise, ½ clove garlic minced, ½ c. sour cream, 1 tbs. anchovy paste. Stir in slowly 1½ tbs. vinegar, add 4 tbs. chopped parsley and pimiento. Delicious on vegetable or fish salads. Try Best Foods Real Mayonnaise with cheese, meat, other sandwich fillings, for appetizing summer snacks. Scrumptious in deviled eggs.

Because it is a blend of pure vegetable oils, whole eggs, added egg yolks and other fine ingredients ... because it has no starchy filler to dilute its richness ... Best Foods Real Mayonnaise is worth more than ordinary salad dressings. You save with rich, Real Mayonnaise because it goes farther, so many ways. Maritimes Supply Core For Canada's Special European Infantry Brigade

OTTAWA (BUP) — The 27th Infantry Brigade, Canada's second special fighting force of the hot-cold war, was nearly up to its target strength today with more than 9,000 men in training for European service.

The brigade, destined to become a part of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's "North Atlantic army," is expected to reach its official maximum strength of 10,000 within a few days.

The goal was set when recruiting for the new brigade began

May 7. It was considered the minimum possible to provide a full fighting brigade with a replacement pool large enough to supply reinforcements in the event of action, and to permit rotation of troops on overseas service.

Brig. Geoffrey Walsh, force commander, returned to his Valcartier, Que., headquarters this week after a flying visit to all units under his jurisdiction. He said he was "fairly well satisfied" with the progress of the force and the results of the recruiting program.

Walsh had special praise for reserve units of the Maritime Provinces for their recruiting campaign and told Maritime officers "the Maritimes will be the core of the apple that is my brigade."

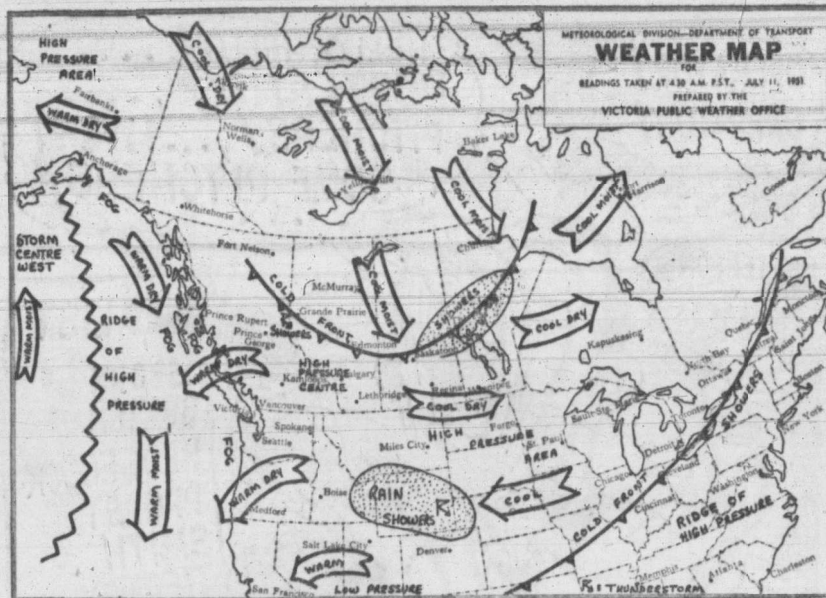

More than 2,700 men of the total force were recruited from the Maritime Provinces, a proportion that represented the highest score for recruiting on a per capita basis.

The Central Command, covering the Province of Ontario, recruited 3,000 members of the new brigade. The West Coast Command came third in the recruiting picture. It signed up about 1,200 men. The Quebec Command had 1,000 and the Prairies 800.

Officers at defence headquarters said about two-thirds of the recruits were unmarried, a little more than a fourth were veterans of the Second World War, and some 2,000 came from reserve units.

A total of 15,308 men applied for service in the brigade. About 5,000 were turned down during the two-month recruiting campaign for medical or other reasons.

There were 171 officers enrolled and 8,918 other ranks at the close of recruiting Monday. At that time there were more than 1,000 applicants still being processed and a large number of them were expected to be enrolled by the end of this week.

Abbott Draws Criticism For Heavy Budget

OTTAWA (CP) — Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto-Eglinton) said Tuesday night Finance Minister Abbott has "won for himself the all-time Canadian record as the most inaccurate budgeter in our history."

"His actual errors in budgeting in the last five years amounted to $1,250,000,000 in round figures, an average of $250,000,000 a year," said Mr. Fleming. "In other words, his inaccuracy has amounted to nearly $1,000,000,000 a day over the last five years."

Mr. Fleming's statements were made in a speech for broadcast over the Trans-Canada network of the CBC in the weekly series "The Nation's Business." Later he spoke in French over the CBC's French network.

For 1951-52, Mr. Abbott budgeted for a surplus of $30,000,000, but in the first two months of the fiscal year the surplus totaled $275,000,000.

"If he runs true to form we must allow for an error of roughly $250,000,000 in his estimates of income this year," said Mr. Fleming. "On that basis there was no necessity for the heavy increases in taxation."

He referred to the 20 per cent increase in personal income tax, effective July 1, and to increases in hidden taxes, effective from last April 11.

The Progressive Conservative Party had demanded action in the Commons to curb inflation and the high cost of living. But "the government's contribution to the problem of inflation was to increase the cost of living."

"Record high taxes and a record high cost of living. That is the combination with which the present government has rewarded the confidence of the Canadian people."

Gas Price Boost Will Not Apply In Victoria Area

The retail price of gasoline just increased 1.7 cents a gallon in most sections of Greater Vancouver and the Fraser Valley, will not be boosted here.

Harry Davis, manager of the Garage Motor Trades Association, said his association was not expecting any increase in the retail price in the near future.

He explained that when government controls were lifted at the last session of the Legislature, local dealers raised their prices to the present level of 41.4 cents per gallon for premium and 39 cents for the regular.

CHANDLER IN LAST ACT; TO FISH AND FORGET

DETROIT (AP)—Outgoing Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler said today he would welcome an opportunity to get back into baseball but denied a report he would replace Billy Evans as general manager of the Detroit Tigers.

Chandler, whose resignation becomes effective Sunday, performed his last major official act yesterday when he presided over the 15th annual All-Star game.

The former Kentucky senator outwardly appeared his old smiling jovial self as he visited each dugout bidding goodbye to the All-Star players, managers and coaches of the National and American Leagues. But to close friends he made no effort to hide his true feelings.

"I don't remember when I've felt as I do now," he confided. "Why should they have done this to me? What reasons did they have? They still haven't told me."

Deep in the dugout, hidden from the players and the vast crowd that jam-packed Briggs Stadium, the spurned commissioner, for the first time since his repudiation, wept unashamedly.

Chandler, who received the full $65,000 for the last year of his seven-year contract although his term still had 10 months to go, said he planned to spend the next few weeks fishing and forgetting.

8 Victoria Daily Times WEDNESDAY, JULY 11, 1951

Views Of Sport

By HAROLD ROSENTHAL—Substituting for RED SMITH

There was a piece in the paper the other day about the Yankees signing some bonus kid pitcher out in Frisco. The way the story read $50,000 would be a pretty fair guess as to the sum they turned over to the lad's father, Ed Cereghino Sr., a small business man who had to sweep major-league talent scouts out of the doorway every morning before he could open the store.

Cereghino Sr. introduced a new wrinkle into the art of selling his boy's talents to the highest bidder. He had printed, and made available without the necessity of enclosing a self-addressed and stamped envelope, an elaborate brochure outlining Jr.'s somewhat startling career as a right-handed schoolboy pitching phenom. Ultimately Joe Devine, the boss of the Yankees' far-flung West Coast scouting network, gave the sign to George Weiss in New York that the kid was worth the price.

The Pre-Inflation Baseball Days

Devine, an outstanding exponent of the take-it-easy school in dealing with young men (he gave Gil McDougald about $1,500 to sign) must have seen something really terrific in this new young man. Fifty-thousand fish, translated into box office terms, means 50,000 customers at a home game, which further translated means one good Sunday double-header crowd against perhaps Cleveland or Boston. That kid had better be good.

The annual rush of post-graduation bonus signings always sets gaffers to wondering about the old days and whether they'll ever come back. Times like when Pee Wee Reese was positively overcome with joy to sign with the Louisville Colonels for $200, or like Pete Reiser's signing with Brooklyn for five crisp $100 bills. They talk about Preacher Roe's getting $5,000 out of Branch Rickey the time the Mahatma was running the Cardinals as the financial coup of 1939. Five thousand dollars today would be little more than expense money eaten up by a scout chasing some pointy-headed kid through the Carolina hills.

He Might Have Walked Both Ways

There have been some exceptions to a ball club's turning its back over to some new kid, though, and not in the too distant past either. Ever hear how Everett LaMar Bridges was signed five years ago? In case that name reads like something out of a Jubal Early raid, let's identify him as the current Dodger third baseman. Let's further identify him as the current Dodger third baseman since the best chance to become the permanent Dodger third baseman since Spider Jorgensen had filled the job full time in 1947.

Rocky Bridges signed with the Dodgers instead of the Yankees because someone cast him a few biscuits upon the waters. The fellow who did the casting was a man who ran a semi-pro club around Long Beach, Calif., where Rocky grew up.

"We had a semi-pro club called the ex-Legion. That's because we were all former Legion players but had grown too old," declared Rocky.

"This ex-Legion fellow was a friend of Tom Downey's the Dodger scout. He asked me to sign with Downey and I did."

Bonus? Bridges' crack-like face broke into a wide grin and he scratched his handily on a Laurel-and-Hardy gesture.

"I had to take a trouble down to meet Downey and sign the contract. That cost me a nickel. I walked back because I figured that I had spent enough on the deal already."

Brooklyn Bargain Basement

Bridges played at Santa Barbara a couple of years then Greenville, then Montreal, and finally came up with the Dodgers this year. They sent Bob Morgan, who looked originally to be one of the finest of post-war Dodger prospects back to Montreal and kept Bridges, opening the season with him. At 23 he's not only the youngest member of the Dodger infield but the youngest regular in the line-up. He's Rickey's youth movement with Rickey no longer around to witness it.

His baseball talents are flexible, to wit, he came up as a shortstop, was runner-up for Most Valuable Player honors in the International League as a second baseman and stepped into the big third-base job without blinking an eye this year after spring training. Brooklyn's signing him for minus five cents may turn out to be one of the big bargains in baseball history.

AMERICAN ALL-STARS OVERPOWERED

National Leaguers 'Big Boys'

DETROIT (AP)—The National League inner circle today saw an end to the American League's "Reign of Terror" and predicted a new cycle shifting the batting power to the senior circuit.

Gil Hodges, strapping Brooklyn first baseman and the National League's home-run leader, said after yesterday's 8-3 triumph over the Americans:

"It is the National that has the home-run hitters now, not the American. Yes, sir, times have changed."

Ralph Kiner, the National's home-run king for the last five years, echoed this sentiment.

"We're the big guys now and they are the little boys," he said.

Pee-wees In Box

Preliminary Tonight

Fernwood and Saanich lacrosse peewees will play a prelim game at the arena tonight before the Shamrock-New Westminster game. The peewee game will start at 7:30 but all players are requested to meet at the front door at 7.

After tonight's game an all-star peewee team will be chosen to go to Nanaimo Saturday.

"I could see that before the game when we lined up for the National Anthem. I looked over at the American League bunch and thought: 'Gee, what a bunch of little boys compared to a few years ago.'"

Kiner and Hodges each walked a home run as the "big boys" bombarded five pitchers for a dozen hits and ran up the biggest run total ever made by a National League all-star team.

Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals and Bob Elliott of the Boston Braves also smashed homers for the winners. Those of Hodges and Elliott came with a man on base. George Kell and Vic Wertz of Detroit hit solo four-baggers for the Americans.

The Nationals had won only five of the 17 previous all-star tilts and had dropped 30 of 47 world series. They haven't won a world series since 1916. Last year they had to go 14 innings to win the all-star game 4-3.

The Nationals entered the game with the more robust batting averages and better pitching that belied the 7-5 odds favoring the Americans. The results bore them out. Not only did they outslug the Americans but

TIGERS GO ON BLOCK AS PADRES QUIT

TACOMA, Wash. (UP)—The Tacoma Tigers baseball team of the Western International League is up for sale.

Some 25 business men met here yesterday to discuss the possibility of purchasing the Tiger franchise from the San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast League.

W.I.L. president Robt. Abel said San Diego officials have stated they would not operate in Tacoma next year. Abel said league approval was necessary to take the team out of the loop.

Tacoma business manager Frank Gilliland said the Padres had informed him that poor attendance plus the fact the Padres had a farm club at Bakersfield, Calif., were reasons for the sale.

Holder Keeps Pitching Lead Though Idle

TACOMA (AP)—Idled by injury, Spokane's Jim Holder clings to his Western International League pitching lead with a 9-0 won-lost record. It was shown in statistics released today.

Author of two triumphs during the week, Vancouver's Pete Hernandez is tied with teammate Bob Snyder for second place with a 9-1 record. Snyder added two successes to achieve an 18-2 season's mark.

Tillicums Meet Servants

A change announced in the senior men's softball schedule finds Tillicums meeting City Service at upper Central Park tonight at 6:30 in place of the previously scheduled contest.

It was the same old story last night. Jimmy Probst started on the mound for Victoria Athletics and the A's got him about as many runs as they ever do, and the three tallies weren't enough.

The result was that the A's lost a well pitched contest to Wenatchee Chiefs, 4-3. Probst allowed only three runs in his eight inning chore, and Ron Smith, who took over in the ninth, allowed one run, the winner.

The two hurlers allowed only five hits between them, with the winning run being unearned.

Wenatchee threw Al Treichel against the A's and he came through in great style. Not only did he strangle the Athletics bats but he slammed out a long two-run homer in the seventh inning to break a 1-1 deadlock and give himself a working margin.

Wenatchee scored one run in the second inning and that was all the run-making either club did until the seventh. Athletics tied the game up in the stretch inning on Art Thrasher's single, Bob White's double and an infield out.

Treichel's homer in the bottom of the seventh put the Chiefs ahead 3-1. Athletics scored singles in each of the last two frames to tie the game up going into the bottom of the ninth. The A's ninth-inning run came on two walks and a bad throw by Wenatchee shortstop Lil Arnerich.

Manager Bob Sturgeon sent Smith in against the Chiefs in the bottom of the ninth, but hard luck Ron could not hold the tie. Len Neal reached first base when Bill Dunn muffed his ground ball. After Neal had advanced to third on a sacrifice and infielded out, he scored the winning run on Buddy Helmaa's single to center.

In the ninth a fast ball got away from Smith and headed Arnerich. He was able to walk off the field but was taken to the hospital with a slight concussion.

The A's return home Friday against Tacoma.

Rocks Shoot For 'Double' Tonight

Blast Combines Jinx In Explosive Contest

By BILL WALKER

VANCOUVER—Two noteworthy events occurred here Tuesday.

First, Elgin Queen and Jazz Society combined for one of the highest double payoffs in British Columbia's racing history at Lansdowne Park—a whopping $1,858.85.

Secondly, the Victoria Shamrocks won what they expect to be the first half of an Intercity Lacrosse League "double" from Vancouver Combines, 16-13, at Kerrisdale.

Though only two persons won the racing double, several thousands were interested, but still not as interested as Victoria lacrosse fans should be over the Rocks and their impending clash with the New Westminster Commandos at Memorial Arena tonight.

That's where the boxla "double" comes in, as the Rocks, by whipping, squeezing by, or upsetting the Combines—whichever way one viewed the proceedings—grabbed a six-length lead on the field. And if they cop the second half of the running with the second-place Commandos tonight, they'll be eight lengths to the good with three-eighths of a mile to go.

That's how important tonight's game is. A victory over the Commandos will not only make the Rocks prohibitive choices to capture the intercity stakes, but will virtually assure them of finishing in the money no matter what happens in the stretch.

Far from out of the race, Combines struck fast and hard enough through Kinna and Ernie Smith and sliced the Rocks' once healthy lead to 14-11 with only two minutes gone in the fourth period.

But the Rocks took command as the tremendous heat began to take its toll at this stage of the proceedings and Norm Coates and Baker provided the cushion that enabled them to pull up as the meeting drew to a close. Ken Webb and Stewart kept the flickering Combines' hopes alive, but their efforts weren't enough.

BROWNING GAINS

Browning picked up three points to maintain his league scoring leadership but Arch Browning moved to within point of his linemate with three goals and one assist.

Andrews, playing with a broken hand, had one of his poorer nights in the Rock nets, stopping only 18 shots, but he was safe whenever the real pressure was on.

The only other incident of note was when Stewart attempted to pick referee Bill Wilkes' feet from under him with a shot at the close of the end of the first half.

Seeded Men Gain Net Quarterfinals

Men's singles play in the Victoria city tennis championships moved into the home stretch today with two quarterfinal matches to be played this evening on the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club courts.

First-seeded Rex Jackson meets a tough foe in Bert Jones, of Vancouver and Victoria, in one of the 5.30 matches, while fourth-seeded Carl Brand takes on unseeded Gordon Hartley. Jones, regarded as a tourney "dark horse" is seeded No. 6, but well may upset Jackson.

VICTORIA MAY JOIN PROPOSED HOCKEY LOOP

The possibility of a new coast hockey league being formed with entries from Victoria and Vancouver was disclosed at a meeting of hockey delegates from Victoria, Vancouver, Nanaimo and Kerrisdale at the arena last night.

Tentative plans call for an amateur league that could in the future lead to a strong junior loop. The new league, to be called the Coast Amateur Hockey League would be of the same calibre of play that has been witnessed in local commercial hockey.

While the league is still in the embryo stage, it may be formed on the pattern of the Mainline Okanagan League. Mentors disclosed that they have no intention of entering into the Allan Cup playoffs but that they may compete for the Coy Cup which is given to winners of western intermediate hockey.

TO BOOST SPORT

The new league, if no way designed to compete or interfere with the Pacific Coast Hockey League. It is felt that a new league would help players in commercial hockey and lead to more agreement in provincial hockey as a whole.

Meanwhile, Commercial Hockey Leagues in Victoria and Vancouver plan to continue functioning as they have in past years. There is a possibility that the mercantile loops would back the new league while still operating independently.

All plans regarding the new league may be definitely resolved at a meeting in Vancouver July 22.

Classy Field Coming For Island Skeet Meet

The rattle of musket fire will resound continuously in the Albert Head area this coming weekend when some of the Pacific Northwest's ranking scattergun marksmen battle it out with Island marksmen in the Victoria Gun Club's major trap and skeet title shoot at the club's Albert Head Road grounds.

Clarke Atchison, ranking marksman at the clay pigeon posts and 1951 president of the local club, figures that more than 100 entrants will go to the posts to seek a share in the handsome array of prizes at stake in the two-day tournament to determine Vancouver Island trap and skeet champions.

This is the club's first venture into a week-end's shooting, featuring island titles. Prior to this the year's top-billing event on the local scene was either the B.C. trap or skeet tourneys. Unable to get either provincial tournaments in Victoria this year, club officials decided to make island title events the "big show" of the year.

BIG ENTRY

"We've got the best shooting grounds on the Pacific Coast for this type of sport, particularly popular with American marksmen, and I believe this will be the biggest tourney we've ever held here in spite of the fact provincial honors are not in the competition," opinioned prexy Atchison.

Local club officials arranging the tourney, to start at 10, Saturday morning, have assurances that a fairly good sprinkling of State of Washington's best at the trap and skeet posts will be here to seek laurels. At the recent

In the lower half of the men's bracket, Jack Butt raced into the quarters with a 6-3, 6-3 win over Will Browne-Cave. Camosun champion, while Jack Parker and Peter Peacock, other seeded players, advanced with straight set triumphs. Parker topped R. C. Martin, 6-3, 6-0, while Peacock dropped Lt. Cmdr. J. D. McCormick of H.M.C.S. Naden, 6-4, 10-8. McCormick had set point three times in the second set but was unable to pull it from the second-seeded Peacock.

Unseeded Audrey Bone reached the semi-final round of the women's singles play with a 6-3, 6-3 win over Claire Kinnis, while young Sally Pollard scored the big upset of the evening by whipping Beryl Keyes 7-5, 6-2, 6-0, to gain a quarterfinal round berth. Val Speed, 35-year-old Camosun women's champion, dropped a 6-4, 7-5 match to Diana Knowles, while Tommy Elmsley whipped Ros Wilkinson, 6-1, 6-3, and N. Finlayson defeated Betty Tremblay, 6-2, 6-4.

In tonight's women's play Bessie Wilson plays Mary Tucker in the feature match.

Sold To Caps

TACOMA (AP)—Jerry Barta, Tacoma right-hander, has been sold outright to Vancouver Caplans of the Western International Baseball League, it was announced here Tuesday.

Barta, who has appeared in 24 games this year with Salem and Tacoma, has a 3-5 record, one of the losses coming while with Salem.

At the same time, the Tiger management announced the addition of Henry Miller, negro pitcher, optioned to Tacoma by San Diego.

SOLOMONS SEEKS RETURN BOUT IN ENGLAND

LONDON (AP)—Jack Solomons, fight promoter, said today he is trying to have the return bout between Randolph Turpin and Sugar Ray Robinson held in England instead of the United States.

Although most people seem to think the return is to be in America, Solomons said, "a clause in the contract says either the International Boxing Club of America or I can secure the contest provided we can prove who is capable of making the most money. I am anxious for the return to be in Britain and I am going all out to get it."

Lobs And Volleys

By DICK PRAUL

Lights have been burning late these nights at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club, scene of the current city championships. A record entry list has made it necessary for those doing the "bookkeeping work" to burn midnight oil several nights. For instance, 52 matches were played Sunday alone, and last night play did not end until 9.25 when it was almost too dark to see the ball.

Out of the welter of the tremendous entry list there was bound to be surprises by mid-week, and there have been. Gordon Hartley's upset of seeded George Bishop in the men's play was a surprise, but even more so was the emergence of three junior girls, Sally Pollard, Val Speed and Marie Earthy, as winning tourney players. Miss Pollard showed she will be a dangerous foe for the women's title when she whipped the veteran Mrs. Beryl Keyes, 5-7, 6-2, 6-0. Down 5-1 in the first set, she pulled up even, before losing it. The last two sets she reeled off in impressive fashion. Speed and Earthy have been knocked out of singles play, but are still in the doubles.

In the men's section, it's almost anybody's tourney. Carl Brand, the veteran left-hander who disappointed in the club tourney, is back in the groove again and will have to be reckoned with. Rex Jackson, Bert Jones and Jack Butt look like the big three to date, but one will be eliminated tonight when Jackson meets Jones.

Brand is also in the same half of the draw with Jackson and Jones, so it will be a dogfight before one emerges to meet perhaps Butt in the lower half in the finals Saturday. Butt was in the city semifinals last year and put up a great fight before bowing to Jack Milledge, who was in turn whipped for the title by Hank Bennett.

Angle shots: Al Stevenson of Vancouver Lawn Tennis Club, is one of the volunteers helping out with the local tourney. . . . K. N. Counts, who recently came to Victoria from the Far East, and who gave seeded Warren Cameron a hard fight in the opening round, is attending the provincial teachers' summer school here. . . . Marsh Gordon, solicitor and Vic Lawn tennis figure, has one of the biggest record collections we've ever seen, some 3,000 discs. . . . Summer jobs have taken some of the city's more promising juniors off the courts. . . . Among them are Ted Horsey, Cec Branson and Blaine Coulcher. . . . Don't know whether I did seeded George Bishop a favor or not in his match with Gordie Hartley. George asked me to toss him a couple of lumps of sugar and when I threw the energy-restorers to him, he promptly lost 12 straight games and the match. Emery Neale, B.C. singles finalist here several years back, won the Oregon State singles title and also shared the doubles crown.

Both posted a 281 in the 72-hole, $1,500 event. They will meet in a playoff July 29.

Draper took the lead away from Portland's John Langford in the first 18 holes yesterday, but faltered on the final 18. Zimmerman shot two below-par rounds, 71 and 70.

Langford, 1951 Oregon champion, shot a 75 and a 72 yesterday for a 282 total.

Defending champion Charley Congdon of Tacoma finished third among the pros with a 283. Spokane's Tom Boucher was fourth with 284.

Boxing World Stunned By Turpin's Victory

U.K. PRESS IN TIZZY OVER SUGAR RAY'S LOSS

LONDON (AP)—British newspapers ignored the news-print famine today and went to town with page one news and pictures of Randy Turpin's victory over Sugar Ray Robinson.

"Randolph Knocks Lumps Off Sugar," was the headline of the Communist Daily Worker while the ultra-conservative Daily Graphic topped page one with "Tiger Turpin Shakes World."

Sugar Ray, said the Daily Mirror, was up against "a bit of old England that did not care for cadillacs, dwarfs, professional barbers, golf professionals and what have you."

The Telegraph's sports writer, Lainson Wood, observed "Robinson should have had thrashed home to him that charity fights and the gay life of the continent are not the best of preparations for defense of a world championship."

Turpin, 23-year-old Negro almost unknown outside his British homeland, astounded the boxing world by soundly whipping the New York titleholder in 15 rounds as a capacity crowd of 18,000 in Earl's Court Arena cheered in disbelief.

The 31-year-old Robinson's fistic world collapsed around his battered features, but he'll get a chance next September on his home grounds to get his title back.

Immediately after the fight, Robinson's manager, George Gairford, said a return bout would be held September 26 in New York.

"He was better than I was," Robinson said without offering any alibi, "I lost," he said simply.

Unwaved by the champion's dazzling reputation, young Turpin bored in from the start to out-punch, outbox and outsmart the overwhelming favorite who has been hailed in recent years as the greatest fighter-pound for pound—anywhere in the world.

"I thought I was winning all the way," Turpin declared as he ran into his dressing room. "He never hurt me once." Randy was quite right.

Turpin finished without a scratch, while Robinson just barely escaped in the 14th round and ended up with a deep cut on his left eyebrow and another gash high on his left cheekbone. The eyebrow cut apparently came from a crash of heads in the ninth round.

The Associated Press scorecard gave Robinson, who had lost only one other fight in 133 bouts covering 11 years, just four rounds. Turpin got nine, with two even. "I felt good," Robinson insisted. "Turpin is a real good boy."

Randy was paid $28,000, more money than a British middleweight ever has received. He brought the 160-pound title back to the British Isles for the first time since Bob Fitzsimmons' reign 60 years ago.

FOOD PRICES HOLD FIRM LINE IN U.S.

Coalition Rams Through Amendments To Block Government Control Plans

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government reported today that retail food prices held the line during the first two weeks of June.

However, they were still 12 per cent higher than a year ago, just before outbreak of the Korean war.

An eight-city survey by the Bureau of Labor statistics showed that prices remained unchanged over the two-week period, but were down three-tenths of 1 per cent from the previous month. The new estimated food index stood at 226.8 per cent of 1935-39 prices.

The survey reported price increases for pork, fish and eggs, but these were offset by decreases in poultry, fruits, vegetables and fats and oils.

The report said beef and veal prices were about the same, while small increases were noted for rib roasts and frankfurters. The price of chuck roast dropped; lamb stayed the same.

EGGS ADVANCE

Eggs were up seasonally, nearly 3 per cent, while chicken prices dropped nearly 2 per cent. No changes were reported for other dairy products, cereals and bakery products, and sugar and sweets. Fruits and vegetables dropped less than 1 per cent.

It appeared meanwhile that future administration authority to roll back prices on food was written off today as the government's drive for strong economic controls appeared to have collapsed in the House.

A House Coalition of Southern Democrats and Republicans was riding high and ramming through amendments weakening the present price-wage-rent controls which have been temporarily extended through July 31.

Rep. Brent Spence, D., Ky., leading the administration's floor fight, said his forces have no control over the kind of bill the House will pass.

"Those fellows (the coalition) can do whatever they want," Spence said. "I don't know what they will do. But it looks like they are going to riddle the bill."

The coalition handed the administration a smashing defeat Tuesday, pushing through 200 to 112 an amendment to kill the government's program of quotas for slaughter of meat animals.

The administration said the amendment will lead to black markets and "butchering behind the barns." Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle has said it could lead to the end of the entire meat price control program.

Chairman Harold D. Cooley, D., N.C., of the House agriculture committee, said the whopping vote meant the House will accept his own amendment to repeal last month's 10 per cent rollback on cattle prices.

Mass Murderer Living Here?

OTTAWA (CP)—The Yugoslav government has demanded the extradition of a former Yugoslav national, now reported to be living in Toronto, whom it has charged with committing mass murder during the Second World War.

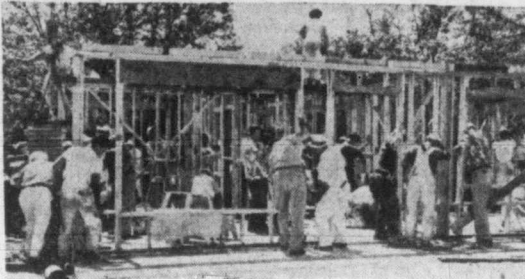

The Yugoslav legation, disclosing that a note has been handed to the Canadian government identifying the man Tuesday as Radin Radoslav Gruicic and said he entered Canada several years ago as a displaced person.

The External Affairs Department said it has turned the case over to the Justice Department, which has opened an investigation.

Hospitals Get Together For Finance Study

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia hospital officials will meet here Aug. 3 to plan a campaign to meet their "critical" financial position.

They say they are faced with bank overdrafts, mounting deficits and soaring costs and have been crippled by a $750,000 slash in 1951 operating budgets imposed by B.C. Hospital Insurance Service.

H. J. Swencisky, president of the B.C. Hospitals Association and board chairman of St. Paul's, here, said the meeting has been called to draw up a brief of "broad principle" to be submitted to the legislative committee probing hospital insurance.

Hardest hit by the economy move is North Vancouver General Hospital. Officials said they have a bank overdraft of $50,000, unpaid trade accounts two months old and estimated their year-end deficit at $100,000.

"The situation is very bad," said board chairman J. E. Paine. "It is critical in almost every hospital. We'll have to figure something out at the August meeting."

A move to close North Vancouver General and toss the issue to B.C.H.I.S. is being led by district Reeve Martin Sowden.

on the TIMES

By ART STOTT

Below my window on Douglas Street, three tall old gentlemen with white beards and black turbans have been talking. Their voices have risen and fallen in notes like the play of a fountain. There have been gestures to accompany the words, chuckles, dark looks and the upturned palms of resignation.

What they have been arguing, I don't know. It might have been the cost of living, the situation in Kashmir. We the problems of wood fuel delivery. It might have been merely a good story the boys were telling when they came out of the temple last night. Nor do I know whether they were speaking in Punjabi or any of the other tongues of India. All that was apparent was that one of them could tell a story well, could silence objection from the other two and, presumably, could put his point across.

IT ISN'T UNUSUAL to find two or three people talking an alien language on the sidewalks of Victoria. Among the older citizens of Chinese origin the sing-song of Cantonese sounds regularly. Conversations in French are common and frequently the thicker tongues of other parts of Europe roll from the lips of passers-by.

To most of us, who consider ourselves Canadians, these are merely foreigners talking in a way we don't understand. We wish they'd speak in English which would prove them more fully assimilated, but we shrug and pay the matter little attention. Yet, with increasing numbers of young Victorians going through High School and on up to College, a growing part of our population is "learning" different languages. Because the country is legally bilingual, the emphasis is on French. But after years in High School, not more than a handful of those who take the subject can make themselves understood when they try to speak it.

WE MARVEL WHEN we meet Europeans and Asiatics who come here to set down roots, or merely pass through on trips. So many of them have a working knowledge of different languages and can express their thoughts to natives of various countries. We're inclined to accept their proficiency as a natural development, their knowledge of English as an automatic adjunct of education. If they want to talk to us, they can learn our language. If they're not smart enough to see it as a modified Esperanto, what have they got to tell us worth listening to?

When the young Parsee, Sorab Godrej, was here the other day, he modestly confessed ability to speak four European languages and three or four Asiatic tongues. He was not too good at Russian and thought it might take him several months to master it. Me, I just said, "Uh, uh," and we kept the talk to English. Pig Latin never has worked for me in international discussion.

THE LANGUAGE issue is something to keep in mind while we're swelling out our chests and appreciating our new importance in the world. We can be heard, and we do exert some influence, virtually wherever English is spoken. But how are we going to reach down to the people of other lands we say we love and with whom we can speak only through an interpreter?

How, for that matter, are we going to reach complete understanding with our fellow Canadians who speak French and who, unless they're bilingual, are as incomprehensible to most of us as strangers from remote points whose words we can understand not at all?

You can't help thinking of the difficulties which face the so-called west when it comes to communication. We have a point of view we want to get across to the Asiatics and Europeans. We're honest enough in wanting to explain our system to them, but we don't have the words they'd understand.

YOU BEGIN to wonder if other tongues, Indian and Chinese, for instance, have such phrases as "democratic rights" and if they have, what they mean. You begin, with dim consciousness, to see that literal translations might signify nothing to them. Maybe you can draw some satisfaction from the belief that actions speak louder than words. Conceivably if we tried harder to help to feed those who don't get enough to eat, we might impress them with the fact that we're friendly folk.

That wouldn't necessarily convert them to our way of thinking. Without the words, you can't translate the concepts we hold. We might succeed only in developing a nebulous gratitude like that of young German children to the philanthropy of American occupation troops. Unless we can establish a talking contact, we might only stimulate the "Got any gum, chum?" reaction.

Thetis Lake Ranges Welcome Pacific Coast Policemen For Two-Day Shoot

Edna Windham, Raymond, Wash., chats with U.S. naval air station officers from Whidby Island; Briford L. Broadway, left, and Offutt Pinion. Record meet attendance includes many newcomers. Three feminine sharpshooters from the U.S. are also on hand. Competition, which started this morning, continues through the day and will resume again tomorrow morning for final relays.

Defending city police champion Charlie Webb, head of the Victoria detective department, watches as top-flight marksman John E. Steele of the Seattle force indicates his poorest shot in opening relay as shoot started today.

A record gathering of 60 pistol marksmen, mostly policemen, from the U.S. and B.C. opened fire today on the ranges behind Thetis Lake as the two-day tournament of the Victoria City Police Revolver Club got under way.

Beer Parlor Prosecutions Under Review

B.C. Liquor Commissioner W. F. Kennedy, in Victoria, today had under review circumstances surrounding the conviction of bookmakers in two more Vancouver hotel beer parlors.

Both cases were being investigated to see if the proprietors of the taverns had any knowledge that bookmakers had been using their premises for business purposes. He said if either had, he would impose a seven-day closure.

Cases being considered now concern the St. Helen's and Waldorf hotels.

Last week, Mr. Kennedy had before him convictions involving the Lotus, the Empire and the Broadway hotels. He imposed a one-week closure of the Lotus, after being satisfied the licensee was aware bookmaking activities were being carried on, but decided no action should be taken against the Empire and Broadway beer parlors.

3 Members Now Sit On Milk Board

Two prominent Vancouverites were named Tuesday as part-time members of the B.C. milk board.

They are Prof. H. M. King, of the department of agriculture at the University of B.C., and Mrs. Rex Eaton, who has served as a member of the B.C. Board of Industrial Relations. They will work under the full-time chairman, E. C. Carr, who, until now, has served as a one-man board.

Decision to increase the board from one to three members was reached at the spring session of the legislature.

Agriculture Minister Harry Bowman, in announcing the cabinet's choice, said the two new members represented no particular interest.

(At one time it had been suggested the board should comprise of a farm representative, a milk distributor and a consumer.)

GARRY OAK LIMBS DROP

Keep out from under those Garry oak trees, chum... a one-ton limb could fall down on you anytime, according to Parks Administrator Herb Warren today.

Extreme dry weather frequently results in the Garry oak shedding its limbs for no apparent reason, according to Mr. Warren.

"A day like this, with no wind, is just the time a limb might drop."

Robber Robbed; Purse Was Empty

The thief who reached through an open window in the bedroom of Jean Tocker, 110 South Turner Street, early today and stole a purse must have got a bit of a shock later when he opened his loot. There was no money or valuables in the purse, police reported. E. Stewart, 116 South Turner Street, spotted the thief and called police. A search of the district failed to locate the man.

New Mrs. Beatty Here With Famous Husband

The new Mrs. Clyde Beatty who arrived today in Victoria with her lion tamer husband to open a three-day circus stand here is finding plenty to do on her honeymoon which began two weeks ago in Bellingham, Wash.

The attractive blonde night club singer has been put in charge of two new-born circus arrivals—a Shetland pony colt born in Alberta two days ago and a white Indian doe born 16 hours ago in Courtenay.

"I love the animals," she said when interviewed in her swanky Pullman car suite equipped with the latest in furnishings and facilities. She said she was especially fond of "Timber," her husband's dog who guarded the entrance of the Pullman car.

"Timber," a German shepherd, will not let anyone in the Pullman unless ordered to do so by the couple. She and "Timber" became friends right away.

Mrs. Beatty said she had yet to get accustomed to the tigers and lions. "That will take a little more time," she said. "But I don't think it will be hard to do."

Drought Brings Problems In City Watering Budget

Victoria's record dry spell today dropped problems in the lap of city parks committee.

1. Boulevard watering budget has been overshot by $1,253 to date. Committee will recommend to council that watering be curtailed from now on to keep within the annual estimate.

2. Outside staff union requested a 15-cent differential for watering from 4 to 8 in the mornings. Committee referred request to City Manager Cecil Wyatt.

While the city is heading for another peak water consumption in July—Greater Victoria consumed 26,000,000 more gallons of water this June than last—there is no hint of sprinkling regulations yet.

City Engineer Cyril Jones said conditions did not warrant regulations.

Parks Administrator W. H. Warren reported boulevard watering was started May 7, earlier

Fire Brigades Join Forces On Boundary

Saanich and Victoria city firemen worked for two and one-half hours Tuesday afternoon, to put out a grass-bush fire on border-line property between the two municipalities near the first tee of the Cedar Hill Golf Club course.

The blaze covered about half an acre, most of it in Saanich.

"It burned the boundary line completely off but we didn't stop to argue who should fight it," said Deputy Fire Chief Frank Briers of the city force.

Hiring Suspended By Civil Service

No New Personnel Until Probe Made Into 'Overstaffed' Charge

B.C.'s civil service commission has suspended for the time being the hiring of any new personnel to fill government jobs.

This was revealed to the Victoria Daily Times today by Dr. H. M. Morrison, chairman of the commission.

Dr. Morrison explained this step had been taken pending formulation of plans for reviewing the entire civil service structure with a view to cutting down staff in some departments.

The review was ordered by the provincial cabinet last week at the same time it gave approval for a 10 per cent wage boost for all workers on government payroll.

In announcing the pay boost, provincial secretary V. T. Straith pointed out there had been certain allegations directed toward the government that it was overstaffed in some of its branches. Mr. Straith explained it was the intention of the government to investigate thoroughly this charge, and to weed out any unnecessary personnel if such were discovered.

In making known that no new appointments to the civil service would be made pending the investigation, Dr. Morrison explained the only exceptions to this practice would be if a key position was left vacant and a qualified person from within the service was not available to fill it. In such cases, he said, the job would be filled from outside upon selling at $3.69; by the pound, 23 cents. They're the Elberta variety, by the way.

Fresh loganberries were peering through their cellophane-wrapped boxes this morning, at two baskets for 39 cents.

Cardinal grapes were bidding all a fine day as they sat in their new quarters at 43 cents a pound... their green seedless friends, 38 cents the pound... Santa Rosa plums couldn't make up their minds whether they'd continue at 18 cents a pound or hold out for 25 cents... Royal Annes still in good supply at 39 cents for two pounds... Bings, 30 cents a tasty pound.

Oh, oh! What I did spy this day... Sitting demurely on sidewalk counter was a basket of fresh local bantam corn. Many a glance it did get with its two for 25c placard, for all to see.

Tender young marrow at 14 cents a pound, and newly arrived Danish squash, with their odd crinkly-jackets, four pennies more a pound. Avacados to complete a refreshing salad, 29 cents each... and good quality B.C. cabbage, way down to six pennies a pound.

Bunch carrots, oddly enough, were selling less than their clip-top brothers, at seven cents a pound... there were more of the wild and tangy blackberries today at 45 cents a "tub." Wouldn't want to influence you, of course, but we had some of the delightful berries, oozing with juice, in a very fine pie last evening. Needless to say, there is not a crumb of it left today!

Great luscious blueberries are tipping the scale in pound bags at 35 cents; raspberries, two baskets for 45 cents; watermelon, two pounds for 19 cents; apricots, 24 cents a pound, or red currants, 26 cents a pound, and the black beauties, five pennies more a pound.

There were vine-ripened tomatoes being bought at 45 cents a pound, and the same price on the sub-acid vine-ripened giants.

MARY HAWORTH

Matron Blasts Sister-In-Law For Contradicting Views In Company

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I have a husband, family and home I love very much; but my problem is none of these. It has to do with a sister-in-law, I'll call her Ann, who is exceptionally pretty, bold, headstrong and argumentative.

When Ann and I are alone together, or with the family, she is very agreeable. But on several occasions in a social group she has boisterously disputed some passing remark of mine; and although I knew that my viewpoint was well founded, I let her have "the last word," because I didn't want to make a spectacle of myself by public argument. Just recently, however, it happened again, in the presence of one other adult, a mutual friend. This time my own quick temper exploded, and I gave her a hot rebuttal, full blast.

I surely hurt Ann's feelings when I talked back and, oddly enough, I don't feel any better about it.

NO WARRANT FOR SULKING

Dear V.L.—If it is a fact that you and your husband are using a frosty or taciturn manner to give you a hard time socially since the verbal tilt that hurt her feelings, then I must say that the record goes against them.

Taking into account human nature, which invariably chafes a bit in the close confines of family relationship, it is to be expected that sharp words might fly, once in a while, between in-laws, the more especially if some member of the clan is conspicuously headstrong and assertive in conversation. And right-minded persons will be prepared for fair trade, give-and-take in that type of jousting.

As Ann's mother is taking the position of embarrassed neutral at this time, I think you should be warmly cordial to her at every meeting, plainly indicating that you value her friendship. But if Ann persists in an upstage attitude, as if baiting you to crawl to her, the proper reaction is to greet her casually when your paths cross, then dismiss her from your attention. This goes for her husband, too. If he is backing her pout with frozen face at your approach, he ought to be ashamed of himself. It is hard to believe that a grown man could take sides in a sisterly spat of this calibre. If he wants to be an exponent of good common sense in the role of helpmate, he should encourage Ann to be generous, not spiteful, in dealing with family friction.—M.H.

Newlyweds Travel South For Long Beach Honeymoon

A home in Prince George, B.C., is the future plan of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Samuel Schlitt, now on honeymoon in Long Beach, Calif., who were married recently in First Baptist Church.

Rev. G. R. Easter heard vows spoken by former Constance Annie Mathias, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Mathias, 325 Vancouver Street, and the son of Mrs. Schlitt, Prince George, and late Mr. Schlitt.

A floral setting of gladioli and carnations was the background for the bride in her gown of gleaming white satin of classic design. A veil of illusion net, caught to her bridal headdress, misted over the wedding gown. Her bouquet was of delicately fragrant roses and sweet peas. Mr. Mathias gave his daughter in marriage.

A gown of palest green whisper taffeta was worn by the bride's sister, Joyce Mathias, in her role as bridesmaid. She carried a bouquet of roses and sweet peas.

Little Carol Phillips wore a flower maid's frock of buttercup yellow taffeta and carried roses and sweet peas.

Clarence Cresser came from Rocky Point to be best man. Ushers were Ray Cresser and Stuart Cresser.

Art Curriculum Getting A Face Lift From Woman

A vital young woman with a quiet voice, wide blue eyes, hair lightly touched with gray, and a determined chin, arrived in the city recently to help revise and remodel the art teaching curriculum at the summer school of education being held at Victoria High School.

She is Norah McCullough, executive secretary of Saskatchewan's Art Board, who with several experts from Canadian cities and Seattle, and 35 teachers has taken on this task.

Miss McCullough is the young Ontario woman who worked with the famed artist-teacher Arthur Lismer to help revolutionize art teaching in the Toronto schools. They so vitalized and inspired the young of that city, they came in droves to the art gallery.

"Instead of trying to force the children into the pattern," says Miss McCullough, "we just made the pattern of art fit the children. They like it, were eager to learn, to understand, and discuss, not art alone, but all aspects of life."

While he was on a visit to South Africa, Mr. Lismer recommended Norah McCullough as the right person to revise art teaching and the development of children's art centres there.

Following two years in Africa she found herself working with Wouter de Vos Maian, superintendent general of education for the Cape.

Miss McCullough reported, "there are 18 teachers' colleges in the state, nine for white and nine for Cape colored."

She returned to this country in 1946, worked briefly in the Art Gallery, Ottawa, before going to her present position. She is a graduate of Ontario College of Art, studied at Courtold Institute, University of London, and took classes in Paris.

In Saskatchewan she touches every facet of community living; travels hundreds of miles with exhibits; works with such well established organizations as the women's institutes, I.O.D.E. and most service clubs.

She tells you, "My confreres don't expect or want to turn out artists by the hundred. Their aim is to help open all avenues for a richer cultural living."

Girl Guides And Girl Scouts Camp Real Hands-Across-Border Gesture

An experiment in international relations came to a successful conclusion last week-end when 12 United States Girl Scouts from Clallam County, Wash., left Victoria for their various homes.

The girls came here to join with Girl Guides of Esquimalt and Colwood companies in a week's camp at Sooke.

Idea for the camp, first of its kind on the Pacific Coast, was born last November when Girl Guides from this city spent a week-end with Girl Scouts across the border.

Mrs. D. Stocken and Miss P. Goings, both of Victoria, and Mrs. R. E. Barker and Mrs. D. Waite of Clallam County, were camp directors.

Exchange of ideas between the two groups made up the interesting program for the week, the American girls learning much about the pioneer-type of camping so familiar to British Columbia Guides and they in turn receiving instruction in the unusual methods of hike cooking used by Girl Scouts, that included a pressure cooker dinner made in a jam tin.

Polishing of their own buttons and strict rules for morning inspection were also new to the scouts from across the border but they learned quickly and easily, and after the first morning, were just as smart and trim in their forest green uniforms, yellow ties and green berets as the Canadian guides in their navy blue and white.

Of great interest to all was the double color ceremony each morning, when both British and American flags were raised.

United States Girl Scouts' campfire ceremony with songs and special national turns, was presented by the visiting group and there was a masquerade the last night in camp.

Returning to Victoria the visitors were billeted in private homes overnight, the young Victoria hostesses entertaining for them at beach parties and other social affairs.

Names of visiting Girl Scouts were Arlene Frodie, Alice McDonald, Sandra Barker, Sally Oates, Frances Roberts, Sheryl Robinson, Diane Harlman, Sally Soderberg, Bonnie Wheeler, Marilyn Bemis, Jeanette Beale and Sharon Kulaw.

Kate Aitken On Her Ninth Atlantic Hop

On her ninth overseas flight since the first of the year, Mrs. Kate Aitken, women's director of the Canadian National Exhibition, left last month for Britain to make arrangements to bring the princess room to the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto.

The princess room is the joint display of six long-established furniture and furnishings firms, including Tibbenhams, of London, showing many of the fine pieces used in homes of royalty, including Clarence House, the new home of Princess Elizabeth.

It has already been exhibited in Great Britain and attracted wide interest.

Represented in the princess room are houses manufacturing fabrics, china, glassware, linen and silver.

Mrs. Aitken will also attempt to get for the C.N.E. copies of some of the attractive and colorful costumes worn by the young Prince Charles, as an added item of interest for the thousands of women who annually visit the exhibition.

BIG ARMY TRAINING SITE CANADA AIM

Decision Believed Near On Location Of Area For Huge Development Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—Wanted: An area big enough and empty enough and warm enough to enable the army to train up to a division in Canada at any time of year—a place about 50 miles long and 15 to 20 miles wide.

It may sound crazy but the army hasn't got an area where it can train satisfactorily even a brigade—a third of a division—all year round. The biggest training camp at Wainwright, Alta., is only about one-fifth the size now sought and its winters are too tough.

It is paradoxical that in a land as large as Canada the hunt for such an area has been going on steadily for many months and off and on for years. It has finally narrowed to a few alternatives and a decision is believed near.

Indications are that the area selected will be in one of the two coastal regions, possibly in the Maritimes.

TO COST MILLIONS
Once picked, there will be a big development with construction of barracks, homes, administrative and other buildings and training facilities. The cost would run, all told, to many millions of dollars.

The present need actually is for an area large enough to train a brigade—embracing about 6,000 men—but the aim would be to get one that could accommodate a division in wartime or before if the need arises.

Canada now has more than a division and a half of operational troops in her regular army, including three brigade groups and two reinforcement groups. There is no intention at this stage to form a division as such.

However, formation of the Special Force 25th Brigade, now in Korea, brought the need for a year-round training area. The

Telephone Worker Crushed By Pole

ELMWOOD CREEK, Man. (BUP)—A 28-year-old Manitoba Telephone Company employee—Harvey J. Anderson of Rothwell—has been killed in an accident near Elm Creek, Man.

R.C.M.P. report Anderson was killed late Tuesday when crushed by a falling telephone pole.

Demonstrate Radio-Phone Service Here

By means of a special installation, motorists in the Greater Victoria area may now place a phone call from their cars to a majority of the world's 70,000-000 telephones. Demonstrations started here Tuesday.

The North-West Telephone Company, whose radiotelephone system in B.C. serves more than 2,000 ships, land points and vehicles, has expanded its chain of stations with the opening of a permanent Very High Frequency F.M. installation on Mount Douglas for service in the Victoria area and the lower part of Vancouver Island.

By means of this installation, automobiles and boats may connect to the regular telephone system through land lines linking the Mount Douglas station with the Victoria long-distance switchboard of the B.C. Telephone Company.

Transmission from a tugboat or automobile equipped with frequency modulation facilities, operating within range of the Victoria installation, is automatically picked up by the Victoria long distance switchboard. The caller identifies himself by name or call letters of his vessel or vehicle, gives the operator the telephone number wanted or other pertinent information, and is then connected in the usual way.

Canada's Indians have increased their numbers more than one per cent annually for the last 70 years.

Mind the business that's your own. Leaving other folk alone.

Jimmy Skunk was wandering about these nights. He prefers night to daytime, you know. Folks who stay up late at night are often called night owls. Of course Jimmy isn't an owl. In fact, Jimmy doesn't like owls. About the only one in all the Green Forest and all the Green Meadows that he is really afraid of is Hooty the Great Horned Owl, biggest of the owl family. Hooty is fond of skunks, but it isn't the right kind of fondness. Anyway, Jimmy and his friends think it isn't. Hooty likes them for a dinner when he is hungry. He doesn't hesitate to catch one when he can.

Just at this time of year Jimmy wasn't wanted around home. At least he felt that he wasn't. It was too crowded for his comfort. Eight children the same age, and growing, take a lot of room. So Jimmy Skunk had taken to wandering about, sleeping in any hole or other dark place he might be near at daylight. Sometimes he even stayed up after daylight.

Jimmy had spent the day sleeping in an old house of Johnny Chuck's not far from the edge of the Old Pasture. He had awakened early. He poked his head outside the door. Should he go out, or should he go back and have another nap? He was of two minds. Bob White settled it. He was sitting on a fence post at the edge of the Old Pasture. He was whistling, "Bob, Bob White." It was a cheerful sound. Jimmy cocked a black ear to listen. It reminded him of something, but just what it was he didn't know. He just had a feeling that it was something he should remember.

Clear and sweet came that whistle from the Old Fence Post. "Bob, Bob White. Bob, Bob White." Like a flash it came to Jimmy Skunk what it was he was trying to remember.

"Berries!" exclaimed Jimmy, under his breath. "Berries! It is time for them now. There must be some over in the Old Pasture." That settled the matter of the two minds. Now he had only one. "I'm going over there," he muttered. "I'm going over there right away. I don't care if it is daylight. I want some berries. I've been wanting them for a long time and didn't know it. I'm tired of Beetles and Grasshoppers and Mice."

His dull eyes sparkled. He licked his lips. He was already tasting those berries before he had even found them. Jimmy began to amble across the Green Meadows toward the Green Pasture. Now and then he licked his lips in anticipation. He didn't hurry. Jimmy never does hurry, or very seldom. He doesn't believe in hurrying. In this respect Jimmy isn't up to date. He still lives as his great-great-great-grandfather did when the world was young. Jimmy never runs into trouble. It is too bad that there are not more people like him today. The Great World would be a much happier place if folks were less hurried. They could learn something from Jimmy Skunk.

Jimmy ambled along until he could crawl under the fence at the edge of the Old Pasture. There he met Old Jed Thumper, the grey old Rabbit who was the father of Mrs. Peter. You know she was Miss Fuzzytail when Peter first met her. Jimmy and Old Jed Thumper were old acquaintances.

"Howdy," said Jimmy.

"Howdy," replied Old Jed Thumper.

In automobiles an amazing thing has happened!

AN AMAZING thing has happened since Austin of England brought the A-10 Devon Four-Door Sedan to Canada. It is the discovery that fine performance and low cost actually do go together in one automobile—the Austin A-10 Devon. So, if you've harbored the notion that you can't save car dollars without sacrificing performance, look critically at the A-10.

Here's a car that floats you along at top highway speeds, hour after hour, mile after mile, in the restful comfort you've learned to expect from a modern automobile. Here's a car that will slip through the densest city traffic with a

Canadian Girl Stars In London

Lissom-limbed Allyn McLerie, 24, of Grand Mere, Que., an exponent of ballet and burlesque, who arrived at the Dorchester Hotel in London the other day. She went there straight from Broadway where she had starred in "On the Town". In Britain to film in "Where's Charlie" Allyn will feature her dances and within a few minutes of unpacking she was limbering up for practice. High spot of the movie will be a scorching Brazilian number called "Pernambuco".

"It's done in bra and panties," Allyn explains, "and it carries a lot of meaning—if you get me."

HOLLYWOOD REVIEW

Long, Costly Struggle To Put Amos 'n Andy On TV

By VIRGINIA MACPHERSON

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—The man who helped put Amos 'n Andy on television said today it took 2½ years and $50,000 to do it—even with President Truman and Gen. Dwight Eisenhower helping out as talent scouts.

"It was a heart-breaking, discouraging job," sighed James Fonda, associate producer for the TV series. "There were many times when I felt like giving up."

"After all, Freeman Gosden and Charles Correll spent 23 years building up those characters. We had to make them look and sound like people imagined them."

And for almost three years Fonda and Gosden and Correll looked. They scoured New York and Chicago and Baltimore and Hollywood and Tulsa and Washington.

They even told the President about their troubles. He suggested they look through the Southern universities.

Gen. Eisenhower thought he had just the man to play the "Kingfish"—an orderly who was with him in Europe during the war.

"We finally found him—through the War Department," Fonda said. "But he wasn't quite right for the role."

The trio even went through a period of testing big-name actors. Candidates included Jack Oakie, Cab Calloway and Marvin Miller. That didn't work, either.

"We talked to almost 800 actors during the search," Fonda said. "And finally we heard about a man, Alvin Childress, who sounded like a good 'Amos.' But by the time we got his address he'd left town."

SUMMER SCHOOL PERFORMANCE

Small Symphonic Group Pleases Concertgoers

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

The only evening concert in the series being presented under the sponsorship of the Summer School of Education featured the Victoria Symphony Orchestra in a classic program Tuesday night.

Hans Gruber, in town briefly between vacation trips, directed the orchestra in performances of the Schubert "Rosamunde" Overture and the Beethoven Fifth. The concert received an enthusiastic ovation from a near-capacity audience.

Successful London Debut For Canadians

LONDON (CP)—Members of a touring Canadian theatrical company made a successful London debut last night.

"Prolonged applause filled historic Cripplegate Theatre as an all-male cast from Toronto's Upper Canada College Little Theatre played the varied roles in Thornton Wilder's 'Our Town' with adult polish.

Robert Morris of Barrie, Ont., playing a matron "who just loves weddings," drew a particularly large hand from an audience which included the Canadian High Commissioner in London, L. Dana Wilgress, and the agent-general for Ontario, J. S. P. Armstrong.

The college players arrived in Britain last week and will perform at schools and colleges before leaving on a short continental tour in mid-August.

The orchestra, only a little more than half its usual size, was playing under the dual difficulty of summer doldrums and summer heat. The warmth of the evening gave the tympanist some anxious moments keeping his drums in tune, and perspiring fingers were no help to the string players.

Under such circumstances the performance could not be expected to rise to the standard we have come to expect of the orchestra. Nevertheless, the second movement of the Schubert B minor Symphony had some really lovely moments.

Mr. Gruber's clearly defined, yet graceful and flowing style of conducting, emphasized the lyric nature of the Schubert and drew some brilliant effects and fine shades of contrast in the Beethoven.

On Thursday morning, at 11 o'clock, Julie Andre, exponent of Latin-American song, will give a recital in the Victoria High School Auditorium.

Alaskan Love Song On Park Program

Miss Doris Heggie and Mr. Stanley Martin, of Victoria, will be the featured vocalists on the program of the B.C. Electric band concert to be held at Beacon Hill Park at 8 o'clock tonight.

The 30-piece band will be under the direction of James Miller. Selections on the program include the following: "Cochecho," an Alaskan love song by Reeves; "Suite Espagnole" by Lacombe and "Two Guitars" by Horlick.

Royal Theatre Will Feature Regular British News Reels

Several weeks ago J. J. Fitzgibbon, Toronto, president of Famous Players (Canadian) Corporation, sat in the Royal Theatre watching a show. He was struck by the absence of British news in the newsreel.

"That will have to be fixed," he said to Cliff Denham, manager of the Royal. "Our people must see more British news."

News reels must carry 40 per cent Canadian news but the remainder is mostly American.

On his return to Toronto Mr. Fitzgibbon sounded out his British connections as to the possibility of a real British newsreel.

Tuesday at the Royal the first British newsreel was shown. It presented nine subjects: Oil crisis
